

WHO & WHAT'S NEW FOR 2015-2016

Learn to Ski Month: January marks the 7th annual "Learn to Ski and Snowboard Month. During the entire month, ski and snowboard areas throughout the country will offer some of their best deals for newcomers wanting to try one or both of these winter sports in the most affordable way. "Cost and convenience often are top of mind for people considering taking up skiing or snowboarding," said Mary Jo Tarallo, Executive Director for the snow sports industry's national initiative. "Like anything else, making the sports affordable and accessible requires a little research and smart shopping." The learntoskiandsnowboard.org web site provides access to resorts, as well as a list of snow sports retail shops, tips for newcomers ranging from "How to Save Money", "How to Dress" (starting with clothes from one's closet), "Dealing with Children" and "How to Pack for a Ski/Snowboard Trip". The site also includes links on renting clothing in addition to equipment, on-line swap platforms, clothing and equipment suppliers and much more.

Newcomers who take lessons during January have a couple of ways to make skiing and snowboarding more affordable. Online retailer skis.com/snowboards.com is giving a $50 gift voucher to anyone who takes a beginner lesson and sends in the receipt. Beginners who bring other beginners for lessons can win substantial prizes for doing so including skis from Head and Ramp, a snowboard from Ride or a $500 gift voucher from Krimson Klover. The key is to take the Bring a Friend Challenge. Newcomers who enter the First Day Faces campaign (#firstdayfaces) are eligible to win a four-day trip to Utah including airfare from a major city. "We think that's an affordable offer", said Raelene Davis, Marketing VP for Ski Utah and sponsor for the trip.

The New Mountain Collective: James Coleman, the managing partner of Sipapu Ski Resort near Taos, and part owner of Pajarito Mountain Ski Area in Los Alamos, has purchased Purgatory at Durango Mountain Resort and Arizona Snow Bowl, near Flagstaff. These four areas, with a total of 3,100 acres of skiable terrain, will now form the Mountain Collective. All are within a four-hour drive of each other in the southwestern united states.

US Women's Ski Jumping Competition: At the World Cup competitions in Sapporo, Japan last Saturday and Sunday, the US Women's Ski Jumping team made a great splash! Sarah Hendrickson placed 5th and 8th, respectively in the 2nd and 3rd competitions, while teammate, Jessica Jerome, placed 13th and 12th, and Nita Englund had an 11th place finish on Sunday. Way to go, ladies!

Happy Anniversary: Bridger Bowl turns 60 this month. Both Winter Park and Wolf Creek celebrate their 75th anniversary this ski season. Howelson Hill, the small race hill in Steamboat Springs turns 100, and both St. Moritz and Davos are celebrating 150 years of winter sports this year. Switzerland will be doing some fun and special things throughout the winter. Congratulations to you all!

SKI SAFETY

Skier Safety: As the Pacific Northwest and California skiers and boarders are doing their snow dances and patiently waiting for more snow, please don't forget to be careful in the marginal conditions that currently exist. Mt Hood was hit with two terrible accidents over New Years. The first was a 37 year old man who died of severe chest trauma after a high speed crash and the second was a 19 year old female who remains hospitalized, recovering from traumatic brain injury, Both of these people were expert skiers and former high school racers. Neither was wearing a helmet. FWSA – First With Safety Awareness

Two prospects from the U.S. Ski Team were killed earlier this month in an avalanche while skiing near their European training base in the Austrian Alps. The team said Ronnie Berlack, 20, and Bryce Astle, 19, died in the incident near the Rettenbach glacier in the mountains over Soelden, the venue for the annual season-opening World Cup races. Berlack, from Franconia, New Hampshire, and Astle, from Sandy, Utah, were part of a group of six skiers who were descending from the 3,056-meter Gaislachkogel when they left the prepared slope and apparently set off the avalanche. The other four skied out of the slide and escaped unhurt.

10th MOUNTAIN DIVISION ICON REMEMBERED

10th Mountain Division Leader: Earl Ervin Clark, a World War II veteran who was instrumental in forming the 10th Mountain Division National Association, and a member of the Colorado Ski Hall of Fame, died December 28 at his home in Littleton, CO. He was 95. In 1971, Clark was among the founding members and first president of the 10th Mountain Division National Association, which grew to have more than 5,000 members. He also played a role in forming the International Federation of Mountain Soldiers, a group that includes German, Austrian, Italian and French mountain ski soldiers. On St. Patrick's Day, 1942, Clark joined the Army and volunteered for an experimental skiing unit, which became the 1st Battalion of the 87th Regiment — the nucleus of the soon-to-be-formed 10th Mountain Division.
