

WHO & WHAT'S NEW FOR 2016

New President For Women's Ski Jumping: Women's Ski Jumping USA (WSJ-USA) is pleased to welcome Julie Hickam as board president. Julie brings many years of volunteer and board service, sitting on several non-profit committees and boards in her previous community and most recently, working with the Park City Nordic Ski Club, where she was named the 2014 Volunteer of the Year and was recognized for her volunteer work by the U.S. Olympic Committee. She brings a solid business and marketing acumen with several years of experience in the title and real estate industry. On her outlook for the organization, Julie states, "I am fortunate to assume the leadership role in an organization where the inaugural team passionately set a high standard of excellence both on and off the hill. My vision is to carry on this legacy, empowering the next generation of female ski jumpers to achieve the same level of greatness while applying those standards to our program and sport". Her daughter is a young promising jumper, an amazing accomplishment considering the family only recently moved to Park City from Louisiana.

Women's Ski Jumping USA Expands Relationship with the U.S. Ski and Snowboard Association: Women's Ski Jumping USA (WSJ-USA) has announced an expanded relationship with the U.S. Ski and Snowboard Association (USSA). Beginning on October 1, 2015, USSA assumed responsibility for coaching and other operations affecting the women's ski jumping program. USSA will be taking responsibility for the national women's ski jumping program including the employment and contracting of the two national team coaches, and the partnership with Utah Olympic Park for development coach, Lindsey Van. WSJ-USA will focus their organizational efforts on cultivating and supporting development programs and athletes – with an emphasis on the successful Fly Girls development program.

Both the winter and summer programs are held at Big Bear. USARC has approximately 150 volunteers. They become volunteers by completing a 4-day training program, and must commit to at least 6 days for the Winter program and a little less during the summer months. Volunteers ski free at Big Bear. Contact Sara at sara@usarc.com for more information.

Erin Hayden, from the Unrecables, spoke on volunteering with their club, which is a chapter of Disabled Sports USA. They provide “stand-up” lessons for those visionally impaired, sliding and snowboarding. They also provide “sit-down” lessons on mono-skis and bi-skis, all done at Mammoth Mountain. The volunteers need to be intermediate level skiers, and will assist students get into their equipment, on the chair, and down the hill.
