

WHO & WHAT'S NEW FOR 2017

Lindsay Vonn Sets Record at World Ski Championships: Lindsay Vonn finished 0.45 of a second this past weekend at the World Ski Championships in St. Moritz, winning a bronze medal, but she landed in the record books as the oldest female to medal at this prestigious event. Vonn said that it has been a battle coming back from her injuries, but it was very rewarding to fight the odds to earn a medal. It was her seventh World Championship medal. Not only did Lindsay medal, but 3 other Americans placed in the top 15 of the downhill event: Laurenne Ross (Bend, OR) placed 5th, Jackie Wiles (Aurora, OR), tied for 12th, and Breezy Johnson (Victor, ID), finished 15th.

Banff, Alberta – The Gateway to 3 Beautiful Resorts: Located in Banff, Alberta, you will find 3 wonderfully beautiful ski resorts to choose from to take up that one, two, or even three days of skiing or snowboarding, or just enjoying the snow. Sunshine Village, which is known for its' extreme terrain, and the need for fat skis, provides a great day on the slopes. Little Banff, or Mt. Norquay, actually offers skiing by the hour. It is a ski racer's haven, with plenty of fast, slick groomers. And Lake Louise is just an all-round great place to spend a day on the slopes. Join Far West on their Ski Week 2018 to Banff.

NSAA Director, Michael Berry To Retire: During January's National Ski Areas Association (NSAA) board meeting in Denver at the SIA Snow Show, NSAA president Michael Berry informed the board that he is retiring at the end of this calendar year. Berry has been president of NSAA since January 1993. He has been instrumental in turning NSAA into the strong organization it has become. Under his watch, NSAA developed the Model for Growth, a major research endeavour, designed to help attract and keep new participants. The project has guided many of NSAA's programs for more than a decade, including Learn to Ski and Snowboard Month/Bring a Friend. In addition, he frequents Washington, D.C., to monitor legislation that affects the ski and snowboard industry, and works directly with the U.S. Forest Service on matters involving the several ski areas that operate on public lands. The NSAA board plans to detail the process for finding Berry's successor, and post the position description and the type of experience candidates will need to possess.

Skiing Magazine Calling It A Day: After 70 years of publication, Skiing Magazine has put their last issue to bed. The 2017 Winter issue was the final issue, giving way to the more popular, more profitable, and more widely-read Ski Magazine. Thank you for your years of instruction, discussion on new gear, and a listing of great places to ski.

FAR WEST CONVENTION

Charities and Community Service Recognition Program: FWSA encourages all clubs and councils to get involved with charities and community service. The Charities and Community Service Recognition Program has been recognizing member clubs for their charitable work at each convention for the past ten years. We now have the Diamond and Double Diamond award for our clubs. Any Club that has won first place in a past year, will apply in the Double Diamond category, while all other Clubs will be in the Diamond category. The two separate levels give groups an added incentive to apply, and then to apply again. Each Club category will have a first and second place winner. The Council category will recognize a first-place winner. As in past years, FWSA is awarding the winning club in each category $200 and the second place with a $50 donation to the club's favorite charity. The winning council will receive a $100 check for their favorite charity. The top two Clubs in each category and the winning Council will be invited to display a picture board at Convention. All groups that apply will be recognized at Convention. Application deadline is in March 26, 2017. Information and applications can be obtained on the Far West website: www.fwsa.org regarding this wonderful program, and how easy it is to apply for this recognition. For any Charity & Community Service questions, contact Sigrid Noack at skisig@gmail.com.
