Far West Ski Association

WHO & WHAT'S NEW FOR 2019

National Ski Safety Month: January is National Safety Month at ski resorts across America, and Colorado Ski Country USA (CSCUSA) member resorts are hosting safety-related programs across the state. Every year, Colorado's ski resorts hold safety demonstrations and programming to educate guests about best safety practices and remind skiers and riders, whether they are new to the sport or long-time veterans, that each skier or rider is responsible for ensuring they stay safe on the slopes. This includes taking the time to work out before hitting the slopes to make sure you are in good, physical shape. It means having the proper gear, including goggles, helmets, and warm clothing to keep your body warm and dry in the snow to prevent frostbite and hypothermia. Using a boot fitter will help make sure your boots fit snugly on your feet.

At Arapahoe Basin, a discounted Flex 4 pack is being offered to get kids and adults to take affordable and flexible lessons with the whole family or group of friends together. Loveland Ski Area will offer its 3-Class Pass for children 6-14 and first timer adults. Participants in the 3-Class Pass program that complete three full lesson packages, are rewarded with a free season pass. Visit: www.skiloveland.com for more information. Purgatory offers free lessons for first time skiers and snowboarders. A 4-hour group lesson for the price of a lift ticket for $60 (kids), $70 (teens), and $89 for adults. And, Steamboat offers a two-day lesson package for adult first time skiers only and can be booked daily from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Package includes 2 full consecutive days of instructions, rentals and two-day beginner lift ticket. Check www.steamboat.com for further information.

USARC Volunteers: For the past 30 years, USARC Volunteers have helped thousands of people with disabilities through the doors, onto the chairlifts and down the slopes of Bear Mountain. USARC has helped people throughout Southern California, across the USA, and across the globe. If you would like to be one of these extraordinary volunteers, give them a call, or send an email to find out more. No teaching experience is required, but you must be an intermediate skier, 16 years of age+, and be able to teach six mid-week days between January 14-March 22, 2019. Each new volunteer must attend a four-day training clinic offered by seasoned professionals in the field of adaptive recreation. There is no charge for the expert training volunteers receive, but for each day that a volunteer teaches, he or she earns a complimentary lift ticket for another day of skiing at Bear or June Mountains. Call Sara Rosell at (905) 584-0269, or visit www.usarc.org.

Far West Member Benefits: Each ski season, our list of Member Benefits is updated on the Member's Corner page of our website. We have two new lodging properties this year, which are Vail Resort properties in the South Lake Tahoe area...Lakeland Village, and Zalanta Resort at the Village. We have several rental companies to rent those skis, instead of having to schlep them to your next destination, or you can ship them with Ship Skis. Once you figure out where you want to go, check out the choices of lodging we have available, and if you're going to Park City, or Steamboat, give the shuttle companies, The Transportation Network, in Park City, or Go Alpine, in Steamboat a call for a discounted shuttle ride to your hotel or condo.
